Grottkau (P 51/H 77) sirfield is located just south of Alt Grottkau (P 51/H 87) on the eastern side of the road leading to Nelsse (P 51/H 77). It was an open meadow which extended about 2 km along the road in a north-south direction and about 1,000 meters in an east-west direction. In the spring of 1951, the field was not occupied but used as an athletic field. No runway, texiways, hangais or other buildings were observed.

Comment. Grottkau sirfield is known from WW II. The reported size and the location of the field agree with available information. When the field was occupied by the German Air Force, two or three hangars were located in the northeastern corner and some temporary buildings in the southwestern corner of the field.
